

What if we're clinging to a status quo that no longer exists?

What if public markets no longer reflect the economy?

What if the overwhelming majority of companies with $100M+ in revenue are private?

What if your portfolio has hundreds of public holdings, but only one story?

What if 10 stocks drive over a third of the S&P 500?

What if traditional thinking around liquidity no longer holds water?

What if growth lives where the index doesn't?

What if large-scale projects outlast the capital intended to fuel them?

What if the private markets power over 80% of US lending?

What if longevity is rising but preparedness is falling?

What if a silver tsunami is no longer on the horizon; it's here?

What if there is a hole in traditional retirement plans?

What if we've constantly underestimated the impact of change?

These aren't hypotheticals. They're facts.

In a world moving forward, your thinking can't stand still.

THINK IT NEW.
